REFLECTION

Society has shown on plenty of occasions that the seed of the Word is not something it has particular interest in. In the pursuit of a modern society, the place of the Word of God, or even a very public People of God is considered redundant. Christianity has been consigned to history and its artefacts to a museum, where one can view them in their proper historical context. As so rightly put by the prophet Isaiah, 'For the heart of this nation has grown coarse, their ears are dull of hearing, and they have shut their eyes.'
