The heart of Jesus could never resist a hand outstretched in need or an appeal for help made in faith. Healing was at the centre of his public ministry and a point worthy of note is that his healing activity extended to both body and soul. In his lifetime he went around the whole of Galilee curing whatever illness or infirmity was among the people and filling them with the life-giving presence of God. The healing acts of Jesus were themselves a message, that he had come to set people free. The mission of the church in every age is to continue the healing work which Jesus began through his miracles. Every Christian is called to this ministry in one way or another.
